INTRODUCTION

According to analyst firm Gartner, large companies spend more than $130 billion annually on their websites. An additional $106 billion is spent on digital advertising (such as Google Adwords, Facebook, Twitter, and other ad streams) in order to promote a brand's products and services and capture the attention of busy consumers. Not quite pocket change.

Despite billions being invested in digital marketing each year, a shocking 72% of websites analyzed by Marketing Grader received a failing grade of 59 or lower.

That might be why generating traffic and leads, and improving brand awareness -- all factors that rely on a high-performing website -- ranked as the biggest challenges among marketers year-over-year.

In fact, enterprise marketers seem to struggle the most at mastering the digital domain. Even with considerably larger budgets compared to small business counterparts, overcoming internal policies, politics, stakeholders, reliance on I.T., and resistance to change make website updates difficult and a marketer's job all the more challenging.

“The real problem at a large corporation isn’t to get funding to do something new, but to get people to stop doing what isn’t working.”

- Michael Brenner, Sr. Director of Global Marketing at SAP.

But there's hope.

We've found 50 companies that have bucked the trend and built world-class, awe-inspiring websites. And some might surprise you.

HOW THESE BRANDS MADE THE LIST

Every company on this list is unique and so is their website. While no website is perfect (that's impossible, really), we've found fifty companies in more than twenty different industries that have an exceptional, world-class corporate website.

Not only do these websites score high in beauty, but all of them score higher in brains. These brands have figured out how to turn their websites into an inbound marketing powerhouse -- arguably the most important factor to business success in the digital age.

*“Design is not just what it looks like and feels like.
Design is how it works.”*

- Steve Jobs

Criteria for a World-Class Website:

Brands on this list meet most of the following criteria:

1. Design and user experience
 - » Overall pleasing design and aesthetic, clutter-free
 - » No annoying advertising or interfering elements
 - » Easy for visitors to navigate and find the information they need
 - » Great layout and structure
 - » High performance, fast-loading, and 99%+ uptime
 - » Reliability and security

2. Content richness

- » Fresh, regular content published often
- » Valuable content and thought-leadership
- » Content for buyers at any stage of the buying cycle
- » A blog or rich content library, such as whitepapers, ebooks, videos, graphics, and other media

3. Mobile optimization

- » Responsive design or mobile-specific versions
- » Ease of browsing from majority of mobile devices

4. Lead generation

- » Use of forms to collect visitor information
- » Use of dedicated landing pages
- » Use of calls-to-action

5. Search engine optimization

- » No spammy SEO tactics
- » Use of SEO best practices
- » Ranks high in search for top keywords

6. Social media

- » Makes social sharing easy from website
- » Encourages social engagement, discussion, or community

7. Value proposition

- » Clear and strong value proposition of brand's products or services
- » Use of plain-English and not corporate gobbledegook
- » Addresses needs of buyer personas and target audience

8. Creativity and innovation

- » Creative uses of marketing and messaging on brand's website
- » Innovative techniques and use of new technologies

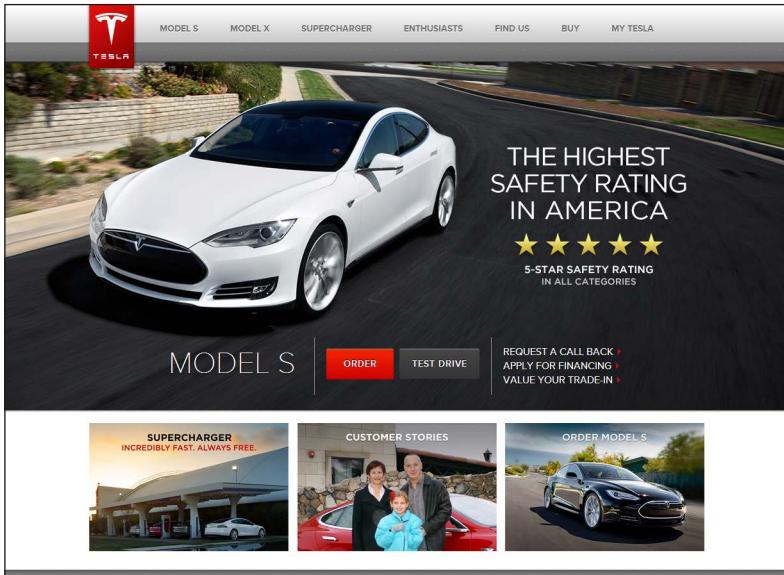

9. Unified experience

- » All web elements working together
- » Cohesive brand experience across website and channels

Now introducing 50 world-class enterprise websites. Enjoy.

The ShoreTel Sky website homepage features a top navigation bar with links for WHY SHORETEL SKY, PHONE SYSTEMS, CUSTOMERS, RESOURCES, PARTNERS, and ABOUT. A phone number (1-877-776-6729) and a LOGIN link are also present. The main headline reads "WANT TO BE A MODERN COMPANY? COMMUNICATE LIKE ONE." Below this, a sub-headline states: "ShoreTel Sky is the modern phone system for today's agile, mobile and always-on company. While other cloud-communications companies have added business VoIP services as an afterthought, hosted VoIP is the heart of ShoreTel Sky." A blue button labeled "WATCH THE QUICK TOUR VIDEO" is visible. To the right, there is a graphic of clouds containing icons related to communication and technology. A yellow banner below the headline says "WE DELIVER HOSTED VOIP SERVICES & APPS WITH AN EXPERIENCE THAT OUR USERS LOVE." It includes "QUICK TOUR" and "GET STARTED" buttons. The bottom section is titled "WHAT MAKES THE MODERN PHONE SYSTEM?" and includes four icons: a person connected to multiple lines, a bar chart, a smartphone and tablet, and a telephone receiver.
